CHLOÉ BEAULAC

MULTIDISCIPLINARY ARTIST | EXPLORER

Chloé Beaulac is a multidisciplinary artist. She graduated in 2010 from Concordia University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts. Beaulac's artwork have been presented in various exhibitions and residencies in Canada and internationally. She has been awarded numerous prizes. The most recent is the Télé-Québec award. She has also received various distinctions for her creations and research. The most recent nomination, for two years in a row, is for the Culture Montérégie – La Fabrique culturelle award, the Printmaking National Award of Open Studio as well as the Albert-Dumouchel award of ARPRIM. Her artworks can be found in many private and public collections, both in Canada and internationally such as; the National Bank of Canada, the city of Longueuil and the city of Saint-Lambert to name a few.

Understanding and depicting our role in nature and history is at the heart of Beaulac's artistic pursuit. In the manner of an explorer, she travels a territory letting it infuse her with its history, myths, and personalities. Having shared these encounters with nature, Beaulac can allow her audience to relive an awakening of the senses through her artworks. By virtue of this process, Beaulac offers her audience supernatural environments to explore at their own accord.
